

Please do not weaken a policy put in place to protect individuals from constant interruptions by telemarketers from any source. When I receive an unsolicited telephone call and question why, I am told that survey or research telemarketers for instance, are exempt from the no call list. Too many telemarketers are already abusing our rights and that will continue as more entities are exempted from honoring the do not call list.